

AT&T Business Solutions Alliance Channel Program Honors Top Solution Providers – Go2 Communications, Inc.

Solution Provider Champion Award Recognizes Outstanding Performance in Providing Customers with High-Quality Solutions and Services

Bedminster, New Jersey -- January 16, 2009

AT&T Business Solutions today announced recipients of its annual Solution Providers Champion Award. The 94 honorees including Go2 Communications, Inc., participants in the company's Alliance Channel program, achieved the highest levels of sales and service among their peer companies during the 2008 calendar year and were recently recognized at the AT&T Alliance Channel sales kickoff meeting in Dallas. The AT&T Alliance Channel program focuses on solution providers who work with the company to serve the needs of small businesses to large enterprise customers.

AT&T Business Solutions recognizes the highest-performing solution providers that achieve specific revenue standards, maintain training competencies and demonstrate specific levels of expertise in providing customers with high-quality solutions and service. Solution Provider Champions combine their own value-added management and services with the power of the company's network, offer portfolios, network management, customer care and billing to provide customers with high-quality, dependable products and services.

"The AT&T Business Solutions Provider Champions consistently meet our customers' business requirements and deliver first-class customer solutions and service, helping our customers use technology to drive productivity from their communications investment," said Kevin Leonard, vice president of the company's Alternate Channel program.

AT&T Business Solutions offers the full range of award-winning services to businesses, including mobility, Virtual Private Networks (VPNs), hosting, security, voice and data services.
